

Durrington High School

A Learning Community “going beyond our best”

Special Educational Needs – Local Offer

Durrington High School is a “Learning Community Committed to Personal Best”. This is true for all students. All the staff at the school are committed to ensuring that every student has the opportunity to attain their maximum potential.

Students who have special educational needs or disabilities find difficulty in fully accessing the curriculum. The school is committed to providing appropriate intervention and support to help remove any barriers to learning.

1) How does the school know if students need extra help?

A student may be identified as having a Special Educational Need at any stage during his / her education. This may be a long term difficulty requiring continuing support or a short-term difficulty requiring specific intervention. Information about your child’s needs comes from a number of sources:

- Liaison with your child’s previous school which often involves school visits prior to transfer
- Cognitive Abilities Tests
- Tests for reading, spelling and comprehension
- Screening for particular educational needs
- Parents / carers expressing concern
- Staff feedback
- Pastoral staff concern(s)
- Student self-referral

2) What should I do if I think my child may have special educational needs?

If you think your child may have special educational needs that have not been previously identified, then you should contact the school and ask to speak with the Special Educational Needs Coordinator

3) What provision is there for students with Special & Additional Educational Needs?

Durrington High School (part of Durrington Multi Academy Trust)

Children will receive support based on their Individual Learning Plan (ILP) or Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP). This may be through differentiated support in the class, 1:1 tuition, small group work or support from an external agency.

How will I know how my child is doing?

Parents/carers will receive formal reports from their child's class teacher. In addition to this, there are the Parent/Carer Consultation Evenings which provide an opportunity to meet with the class teacher and/or SENCO to discuss progress. Students with an Education, Health and Care Plan will also have an Annual Review Meeting and outside agencies may be invited to attend.

How does the school know how well my child is doing?

Teaching staff undertake tracking tasks and enter data centrally on individuals on a half-termly basis. This data is reviewed on each occasion by the SENCO, Head Teacher and Key Stage Leader. This ensures that there is always relevant and up to date information on the attainment of each student. In addition to this, students who have individual learning plans have their targets and progress monitored to ensure that the school has complete information on the whole learning experience and not just the academic side of things.

4) How will the curriculum be matched to my child's needs?

The policy of the school is to enable students with SEN/D to have access to a broad and balanced curriculum, including the national curriculum. All staff (teaching and non-teaching) who work with students with defined SEN needs support the individual to access the curriculum via careful planning and differentiation. The school will use SEN information, data reviews and the reporting process to provide a framework that ensures a student entitlement is delivered, progress is monitored and reviewed. The policy and practice of the school is to educate students with SEN in whole groups. At certain times some might be withdrawn for specialist support which could include small group or one to one literacy, numeracy, mentoring and counselling.

5) How will the teaching be adapted for my child?

Teaching students with SEN/D is a whole school response. Central to the work of every teacher is a continuous cycle of planning, teaching, assessment and evaluation that takes account of the wide range of abilities, attitudes and interests of the students. The majority of student's at The Laurels Primary learn and progress through this differentiated planning.

A further personalised response is adopted for those students identified as having SEN/D. The level and support of this response depends upon the particular needs of the individual student. This support may involve:

- Students at School Support level and those with an Education, Health and Care Plan all have an Individual Education Plan which outlines the difficulties of the student, lists support strategies
- The allocation of a member of staff to support the student within the mainstream lessons. Where this is the case the role of the support will be framed by the teacher of the class.
- A specific, targeted intervention in a smaller teaching group
- Some personal one-to-one support for a set period of time

Durrington High School (part of Durrington Multi Academy Trust)

- Referral and access to external services
- Access to the learning support break and lunchtime provision
- Examination access arrangements

6) What support will there be for my child's overall well-being?

Our team of dedicated teaching and associate staff are committed to giving every student the support they need to go beyond their best.

When a student has significant medical needs we produce a Health Care Plan together with the parents, and other health professionals as necessary.

7) What Specialist Services are available within or accessible to the school?

External support services play an important part in helping the school identify assess and make provision for students with SEN/D. These include;

- Advice from Specialist Advisory Teaching services for example
 - Sensory Impairment
 - Physical Difficulties
 - Down's Syndrome
- Advice and support from
 - Speech & Language Therapy Service
 - Occupational therapy Service
 - Physiotherapy Service
 - School Nurse
 - Child Development Centre
 - Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service
- Advice from the Educational Psychology Service

Before the school make any referral to a specialist service we will gain parental permission.

8) What training are the staff supporting students with SEN/D had or are having?

The SENCO provides training for new TAs, NQTs, ITE trainees on:

- the role of the SENCO and the Learning Support Team
- application of the Code of Practice
- interpretation of the special needs register
- working with students who have particular learning needs – recognition of those needs and teaching strategies to ameliorate the impact of those needs

The school calls upon outside agencies for specialist training as appropriate e.g. Speech & Language, Social Communication, Occupational Therapy, Child and Adolescent Mental Health.

9) How will I be involved in discussions about and planning for my child's education?

Durrington High School (part of Durrington Multi Academy Trust)

The annual report contains a parental feedback page where parents can comment on the progress of their child. Effective communication is achieved with home either through letters, telephone calls, emails or the student planner.

Students who have a Statement of Special Educational Needs or Educational, Health and Care plan will have a multi-professional annual review which looks carefully at progress towards the learning objectives.

10) How will my child be included in activities outside the classroom, including school trips?

Students with additional needs are supported and encouraged to be fully involved in all areas of school life; in and out of lessons. Individual arrangements are planned in advance to ensure that they are able to participate. Where necessary the school will liaise with parents and carers to discuss individual needs prior to any activity.

11) How accessible is the school environment?

The school is accessible to students with physical disabilities. The corridors and doorways are wide.

We ensure that equipment used is accessible to all students regardless of their needs, or that additional specialist equipment is purchased.

12) How will the school prepare and support my child to join the school, transfer to college or the next stage of education and life?

Prior to your child joining The Laurels Primary, the SENCO is available to meet with you to discuss your child's needs and any concerns you may have. In addition to this we gather information and prepare for students joining us by;

- Liaison with the child's previous setting by the SENCO
- Previous school or nursery records
- Additional transfer visits as required
- Contact with parents and carers

13) How are the school's resources allocated and matched to students' special educational needs?

The school is funded to meet the needs of all our students through its core budget but is additionally funded to support provision for SEN/D through;

- Deprivation and underachievement factors, based on the number of students receiving free school meals and those underachieving on entry
- Funding for specific students to meet their assessed needs
- Delegated and designated budgets

14) How is the decision made about how much support my child will receive?

Every student's needs are carefully assessed and decisions are then made based on the ability of the student to access the curriculum and make progress. The school SENCO will work with all staff to discuss relevant interventions, adult support and advice from specialist services to make the best use of available resources.
